

Cut'it!™ EVO

Box height reduction and lid application

Smaller voids, lower costs and reduced CO2 footprint

Reducing voids in parcels before shipping is good for the environment, and good for your bottom line. The Cut'it!™ EVO machine not only automates and speeds up your in-line packing, it also lowers cartons to the highest point of filling before applying a glued lid. The result is a smaller box and faster, leaner operations.

Our purpose

We bring supply chains in balance with the environment and deliver protective packaging solutions that are good for the world, and good for the bottom line.

Ultra-thin boxes

Reducing the box size to the minimum enables usage of sustainable last-mile delivery

25% less trucks

Thanks to box height reduction, fewer trucks are needed to transport your products.

Convenience is key to your brand loyalty

Product delivery and unboxing is a crucial part of e-commerce business. Your packaging provides the first impression, and elevates a customer's purchasing experience.

Good presentation, easy opening, effortless reclosing to facilitate products return can help boost ecommerce sales, attract repeat customers and build your brand.
